ALABAMA'S CHOICE FOR NATIONAL COMPETITION

Elba's Dorothy Lindsey Wins Coveted "Mrs. Alabama" Title

MRS. CHARLES W. LINDSEY, of Elba, has been awarded top spot in the state homemakers contest. Mrs. Lindsey was selected two weeks ago as one of the top three women in Alabama to compete for the coveted "Mrs. Alabama" and eligible to now compete against finalists from each of the other 49 states and the District of Columbia including Hawaii and Alaska for the "Mrs. America" title at the Golden Gate Auditorium, Miami Beach, Florida, Saturday April 27.

Mrs. Lindsey is mother of Terry, 15, and Debbie, 10. Her husband is a prominent business man of Elba.

Her selection was made by the Mrs. America Homemaking Council, composed of home economists and representatives of the General Federation of Women's Clubs on the basis of qualification. She will also be given the opportunity to compete with the other national finalists from each state in a contest sponsored by the United States Treasury Department. The winner of that competition will be named "Mrs. U.S. Savings Bonds" and will receive many extra prizes including an all-expense paid tour of the nation.

If Mrs. Lindsey should annex the coveted Mrs. America crown, she will win such outstanding prizes as 1,000 completed trading stamp books redeemable for valuable merchandise, including a 21 day vacation in Europe for herself and her family, or appliances and furniture for her entire home, or any of a wide variety of gifts for herself and her family. She will also win $500 in cash; a complete wardrobe of the newest fashions; a United States Savings Bond and a year's supply of beauty products; home building supplies valued at $1,000; an all-expense paid vacation at the Golden Gate Hotel in 1964 for herself, her husband and her children, and a minimum of $5,000 in personal appearance fees plus all expense paid travel throughout the entire country, meeting well-known dignitaries and celebrities during her stardusted reign as "Mrs. America."

Dorothy will fly to Miami April 22, accompanied by her husband, for competition as "Mrs. U.S. Savings Bonds" and also for the title of "Mrs. America."

She stated after she was notified that she had been selected as Mrs. Alabama that she will try to bring something back to Alabama they will be proud of and declared that she would certainly work for the honor of winning for herself and the State of Alabama.

Mrs. Lindsey is a registered nurse which she gave up when she married 19 years ago. Her son Scotty plays football at Elba High School and her daughter Debbie, now age 10, was selected the Wizegrass "Little Miss Peanut" of 1960.

TAYLOR WARNS PUBLIC 'BOUT TAGS, DRIVING TOO SLOW

Patrolman R.C. "Pete" Taylor, of the Department of Public Safety has issued a statement to automobile drivers that no attachment will be allowed to the state tag.

It has been noticed that some drivers have various extra tags or displays attached to their state and county tags which is obstructing a clear view of the regular tags. These tags must be removed from any connection with the state tag according to a statement from Patrolman Taylor.

This is not only a policy of this particular area but for the entire state. The order was issued by Governor George Wallace and the State Public Safety Department.

Another warning is that tags should be kept clean enough that they may be read. Patrolman Taylor warns drivers as to speed. A new speed has been set up for Interstate Highway of 70 miles during daytime and 60 at night. But since there are no Interstate Highways in this part of the state, this rule will not effect local speed and the 60 and 50 mileage will be in force. The new speed does not apply to four-lane highways nor any other except Interstate, as some drivers believe.

Another warning is that of driving too slow and obstructing normal traffic which is equally as illegal as driving above the set speed. Patrolman Taylor lives here in Elba and works out of the Elba office. His primary duties are in the western part of Coffee County but also has responsibilities in other parts of the county when necessary.

"The Dawning" Pageant Slated By Methodists Thursday, April 11

"The Dawning" a Pageant of the Resurrection will be presented in the Elba Methodist Church, Thursday night, April 11, at 7:30.

The compiler of this pageant has followed most carefully Andrews' Harmony of the Gospel narrative concerning the resurrection. The cast is composed of some forty characters with additional choir members, with a large number of men participating.

Reverend R. I. Lawrence, the minister of the church, stated that he and Mrs. Lawrence first presented this pageant in Citronelle, Alabama in 1930. Due to its tremendous success on the first presentation they have presented the same pageant in McKenzie, Headland and Clayton, Alabama, and in Chipley and Blountstown, Florida. On two occasions it became necessary to move into the school auditorium in order to seat the many people who attended.

NEW HOPE SCHOOL TO PRESENT COMEDY

"Aunt Cathie's Cat," a 3 act mystery comedy, will be presented at the New Hope School by the ninth grade tonight, April 4, at 7:30. The setting is a spooky old mansion that has been shut up for a long time.

"Tommy Vaughan Day" Proclaimed In Elba

A meeting was held last week with representatives from civic clubs of Elba, at the First Methodist Church to discuss the idea of designating "Tommy Vaughan Day," honoring the University of Alabama senior, who has achieved many honors there.

Sony Inman was selected as chairman and Ben Brock was designated co-chairman. Plans are that the special day will be an event of Saturday, May 18, during the afternoon.

The committee has made a statement that anyone who is willing to make a contribution toward making this a day memorable one to contact Boyd Murphy, who is finance chairman.

Tickets will go on sale for the dinner at a date to be announced later. All committees have been appointed and everyone has begun work on this exciting program, which promises to be one of the most outstanding events to be held in Elba.

Complete state coverage will be given to the event and reporters invited and as plans materialize this newspaper will announce them.

Among the honors this young man has received at the University of Alabama is his being an outstanding freshman, member of Phi Eta Sigma, a freshman honor society, Fraternity President, president of the School of Arts and Science, president of the Student Government, has attained a 2.9 average out of a possible 3.0 during his four years in college, and was recently elected to Phi Beta Kappa fraternity.

Elba civic clubs are combining to make this a most successful day. An appropriate gift will be presented to Tommy at the dinner from the people of Elba as their appreciation for the outstanding record he has made in college.

The Methodist Men's Club will have as its guest speaker Monday night, Mr. Bill Pierce, Elba General Hospital Administrator.

Pierce will talk with the group on organization, personnel, services and facilities of the new hospital which will be opened to the public in the near future.

WHITMAN WARNS OF BRIDGE CONSTRUCTION

Flournoy Whitman, County Commissioner, District 3, request that drivers be notified that a bridge is in the process of construction over Beaver Dam Creek, on the Taylor Mill Road leading to Coffee County Lake.

While this bridge is being constructed, everyone who desires to go to the County Pond are directed to the Bantley Road, turning left on the first paved road north of Elba, known as the Stinson Cross Road, and is paved right on to the pond.

A display advertisement appears in this issue of The Clipper giving drivers official instructions as to travel to the Lake until the new bridge has been built.

ELBA JAYCEES WIN TOURNAMENT

The Elba Jaycee Independent Basketball team won the tournament for the second straight year.

Dorsey Trailers downed a strong Kinston team last Saturday night to become the winners of the Jaycee Independent Basketball Tournament.

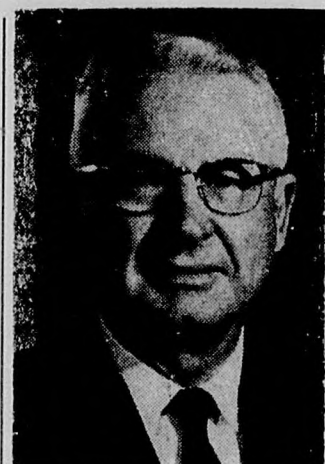

In the consolation Solomon Motors of Dothan edged out Slocomb in a game that was undecided until the final second.

This tournament produced some of the finest games and individual performances ever seen in Elba.

LAB SPECIALISTS INFORMS AGENTS

A meeting was held in the courthouse here Tuesday, attended by officials of the Extension Service from Auburn and local veterinarians and county agents of districts 2 and 3 in southeast and southwest Alabama.

The purpose of this meeting was to acquaint county agents and all hog raisers of this entire area as to how the Diagnostic Laboratory can serve them. Dr. Milligan, Dr. Lanier and Dr. Taylor, also Mr. G.B. Phillips, Extension Service Specialist, were present.

CAMPBELL

A native of South Carolina, Dr. Campbell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Campbell of Landrum, in the foothills. He is the oldest of four sons.

While in Alabama Dr. Campbell was for six years a member of the Baptist State Executive Board and a member of the Board of Trustees of the New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary.

The public is cordially invited to attend these special services.

Baptist Church Announces Spring Revival Services

The First Baptist Church announces the beginning of its Spring revival meeting Sunday, April 7. Sunday services will be 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. And throughout the week the time for the services will be 7 a. m. and 7:30 p. m.

The guest evangelist for this special week will be Dr. Carl Campbell, the Executive Secretary of the Baptist Foundation of Alabama, the trust agency of the Alabama Baptist State Convention.

Prior to coming to his present position on April 15, 1959, Dr. Campbell was serving as pastor of the First Baptist Church, Fort Pierce, Florida. For eight years, before going to Florida, he served as pastor of the Ruhama Baptist Church in Birmingham.

Dr. Campbell is a graduate of Furman University with an AB degree. He did his theological study at the New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary and received a Th.D. degree. Later his Alma Mater, Furman, conferred on him the degree of Doctor of Divinity.

RAMBLING ROSES AND FLYING BRICKS

Telephones Are Annoying . . . But, What Would We Do Without Them

BY EARL TUCKER, THOMASVILLE, ALABAMA

Most every day you hear people say they would like to take off for a few weeks just to "get away" from a telephone. Actually, there are three ways of getting the same results at less cost.

First, you can take the phone off the hook and it will not ring. You will hear a faint hum and every now and then you will hear some kind of mechanical buzzing, like maybe somebody is trying to dial your number. This method I do not recommend, because most of the time a busy signal indicates a party is at home, so what the calling party will do it to drop by your home. This can be good, if it is somebody you would like to see, but most of the time it will be bad because it will be somebody you do not wish to see at all, and this particular kind of people thinks when you call them to stay for dinner you really want them to stay, which is not correct, and the only reason you ask them to stay in the first place is that they are better than running along.

The second way to "get away" from a telephone is to have the company take the thing out, and this is still not recommended, because your number will still be in the directory and when somebody tries to dial your phone a very sweet but frustrating female voice will say, "You have just dialed an incorrect number. Will you please hang up and dial again. This is a recording. You have just dialed an incorrect number. I never did like to have some voice talking to me that I could not talk back to. Actually, I do talk back to the recording but all the voice does is to repeat the same thing over and over, which causes me to repeat some words I should not repeat. Therefore, the only sane and sensible course to follow is to ignore it when it rings, but do not try this method unless you have a vast supply of willpower. It will take about a week to work up an immunity. You will be tempted the first time it rings. If you fail to answer it you will probably spend several hours wondering who it was and what they wanted. Finally, in desperation, you'll call all the children and kinfolks to find out if someone has been in a wreck or if some of the grandchildren have come down with something.

You must remember that 99% of the calls you get are really unimportant. The reason I know this figure is correct is because I said to myself, "I'm going to make a note of every call I get and see how many really amounted to something." That day I didn't get any calls, which was good, and the second day I also didn't get any, which wasn't as good as it was, but the third day because I was feeling a little unpopular.

The third day, though, I got a wrong number call bright and early from a gentleman who wanted to speak to Emma Louise. I told him that Emma Louise wasn't there and hung up. He called back an hour later, still looking for Emma Louise, and I told him she had just run away with another man and he said, "Well, do!"

Finally, though, I got one important call. A fellow said he had a cage full of crickets and some wiggle worms and would pick me up in about thirty minutes. It's mighty nice to have a telephone.

ATTENTION - - -

Drivers are hereby notified that the TAYLOR MILL ROAD to COFFEE COUNTY FISH LAKE is closed for the construction of a bridge over BEAVER DAM CREEK.

Those going to the Lake should go North from Elba by Brantley Road to Stinson Cross Road (first left turn) which is paved to the Lake.

As soon as bridge is completed travel may be resumed by the Taylor Mill Road route to the Coffee County Fish Lake.

Petroleum Industry To Nationally Advertise Alabama In Auto Travel Promotion

Alabama will receive a national free national advertising and publicity promoting the state as a leading tourist attraction, as has been revealed by a major oil company executive.

Part of a massive petroleum industry effort to promote auto travel on a national scale, the campaign is expected to add millions of dollars annually to Alabama's income from tourists and significantly increase the sale of petroleum and related products.

H. L. Moir, vice-president of marketing, The Pure Oil Company, made the announcement as key-note speaker at the bi-annual convention of the Alabama Petroleum Council. The two-day meeting ended March 21.

Moir, who is also vice-president and head of the marketing division of the American Petroleum Institute, said Alabama has been designated a member of the newly-formulated "Sunshine Trail."

Whatever the means, the Alabama Petroleum Council, which he said is to be the nucleus of a new national travel association and support of additional "tourist trails," will be the catalyst.

With Emma Louise out of my mind and telephone line, I settled down to reading a newspaper when the phone rang again and a lady wanted me to write an article she could read to her club on, "The impact of modern art on our rural scene." I explained to the lady that I hadn't felt any impact and that she had better get somebody that had been impacted.

The gentleman called back and wanted to know who Emma Louise ran off with and I told him it was a fellow from Detroit, and he said, "Well, do!" again, and I hope he caught a bus to Detroit to find his Emma Louise.

Later I got a call from my friendly finance company suggesting that I had "overlooked" my last payment, which I sure enough had, for the fifth straight month. The collector is mighty considerate, though, and every month keeps right on thinking it was an oversight. Years of experience with finance companies have taught me that you can overlook a payment for nine days. After that they get pretty nasty.

Finally, though, I got one important call. A fellow said he had a cage full of crickets and some wiggle worms and would pick me up in about thirty minutes. It's mighty nice to have a telephone.

shine Trail," along with Florida and Mississippi, and possibly Louisiana.

The new trail is one of a series being set up by the Travel Development Committee of the A. P. I.'s Marketing Division. It should be functioning this summer.

The first one, the New England "Heritage Trail," has been an outstanding success and the New England press hailed the A. P. I.'s promotion of the venture as "the greatest travel campaign in the region's history."

The Heritage Trail is a colorful auto route which stretches through six New England states and ties together more than 1,000 historic, scenic or recreational attractions. Formed last year, it will be the pattern for the Sunshine Trail.

On a national scale, Moir said, the A. P. I. program includes plans to launch 25,000 travel information centers across the country. The formation of a new national travel association and support of additional "tourist trails," will be the catalyst.

With Emma Louise out of my mind and telephone line, I settled down to reading a newspaper when the phone rang again and a lady wanted me to write an article she could read to her club on, "The impact of modern art on our rural scene." I explained to the lady that I hadn't felt any impact and that she had better get somebody that had been impacted.

Tourism in Alabama is already a $270-million annual business, but it is expected to mushroom even more as the new promotional campaign develops. Describing tourism as a "sleeping giant," Moir declared that "There is not one section of the country, not one state or region, that has fully exploited its possibilities as a tourist attraction."

He commended both the Alabama Petroleum Council and the State of Alabama for the work they have already done to promote tourism and called on them to "launch a state-wide program using the Sunshine Trail to obtain much-needed support of all industries within the state."

"If Alabama," he said, "can attract an additional 20 to 25 tourists per day on an annual basis, it would be the equivalent of adding an industrial payroll of $100,000. Change this by simple multiplication of the thousands who can be attracted to Alabama - for fun and wholesome recreation - and the figure becomes astronomical."

Moir also had a word about the safety of highway travel, citing figures to show that driving is more than twice as safe today as it was in 1945. In that year, he said, there were 11.5 auto deaths for every million miles driven, compared to 5.2 in 1952, the lowest accident rate in our history. This record, he said, was attained despite nearly 76-million autos on the road, nearly twice as many as in 1945.

Decrying "scare campaigns," which he said include such things as sensational headlines, displays of wrecked cars and predictions of holiday fatalities, he called on his audience to help counteract unfavorable publicity of this nature.

Workers, for the survivors of deceased workers, and for severely disabled workers and their dependents. Monthly benefits amounts have been raised so that they now range from $40 to $127, and for a family they may be as much as $254. When these improvements were made, the law was amended to provide a schedule of increased contributions to cover the cost. The recent increase in your contribution is part of that schedule. The present law provides for two additional increases, one in 1966 and the other in 1968, bringing the maximum rate to 4-5/8 percent each for the employee and his employer and 6.9 percent for the self-employed. The scheduled contribution rates assure the continuing financial soundness of the social security program.

The social security tax rate was increased on January 1, 1963. This new rate affected nine out of every ten people who work. Employees now pay 3-5/8 percent each and self-employed people will pay 6.9 percent. The maximum taxable earnings remain $4800 for each person.

SECURITY BENEFITS INCREASED SINCE JANUARY '37

Since the first social security taxes were withheld in January 1937, the original program has been enlarged by Congress to include benefits for wives and children of retired

workers, for the survivors of deceased workers, and for severely disabled workers and their dependents. Monthly benefits amounts have been raised so that they now range from $40 to $127, and for a family they may be as much as $254. THROUGH THE KEYHOLE

BY MRS. ROBERT CANNON

"THE DAWNING" will be presented on April 11 at the Methodist Church. Under the direction of Sybil Taylor the pageant is shaping up nicely. We were thrilled last night at rehearsal when the large cast, which includes children of all sizes, sang and spoke the inspiring words. The pageant begins on the day after Christ's Crucifixion and deals chiefly with the conversion of the Roman Centurion (Lamar Rainer, Jr.) who was in charge of the actual Crucifixion. The confusion, doubt and belief of the disciples in the resurrection are major points as is the picturing of the emotions of the people of Jerusalem.

The setting will be most effective. The pageant takes place outside the city walls which will rise behind the altar. Over the wall can be seen the towers and colonnades of the city, all of which are being constructed to give a dimensional effect. The tomb is approached by a path that winds among large rocks and shrubs. In charge of set production is Al Sewell, who is doing a grand job (such a grand one that we think we'll have to draft him for the Little Theatre). His committee is composed of Robert Marley and Junior Culver, who have given most generously of their time and efforts. The lighting is being handled by Chick Sellers and Dick Doman and isn't it grand to have Chick well enough for such a job.

Working with Sybil in directing the pageant are Carolyn Marley and Nettie Lee Lawrence who are in charge of the young people in the cast.

Nona Cooper has full responsibility for the musical production and must handle the problem of singers who are moving across the stage instead of standing still. The organ will be played by Freddie Johnson, our regular church organist.

Following is a list of characters in this pageant: John - Donat Morrow; Peter - Mike Corbitt; James - Bryan Taylor; Andrew - Ellis Crook; Thaddeus - James E. Williams; Simon Zelotes - Lloyd Crook; Bartholomew - Robert Hammy; Matthew - Max Bowden; Thomas - Bill Stokes; James the Less - Ben Brock; The Lame Man - L.F. Inman; Longinus the Roman Centurion - Lamar S. Rainer, Jr.; Cleopas - Robert Senn; The Other Traveler - Julian Moore; Janus the Roman - Robert Cooper, Jr.; Roman Soldiers - Ed Bragg; John the Baptist - Doug Easters; Billy Meek; Nicodemus - Walter Cox; Joseph of Arimathea - Levey Stephens.

Mary Magdalene - Helen Rainer; The Other Mary - Sammy Morrow; Salome - Virginia Corbitt; Joanna - Frances Farris; Rhoda - Tulah Wise; Prologue - Jo Ann Cannon. Women of Jerusalem - Carolyn Marley, Mary Newton, Annice Brazelton, Ruth Anderson.

Jerusalem Boys and Girls - Jim Williams, Elton Maddox, Courtney Cannon, Cindy Stovall, Annette Lawrence, Jacqueline Snellgrove, Patricia Kennedy, Pam Vaughan, Jackie Moore, Sheryl Cooper, Julie Moore, Jo Ann Brazelton, Tina Anderson, David Inman, David Stokes, Janet

As the time nears, others will be named to various committees and we will add their names to a later bulletin. But do save May 18 and do pitch in and help with your time and contributions.

Elba FHA Girls Observe National Week

The Elba Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America is observing National F.H.A. Week, April 1-5.

Governor George Wallace proclaimed April 1-5 as State F.H.A. Week. The Elba Chapter has 86 members under the leadership of Mrs. Sybil R. Taylor. The officers this year are Jean Taylor, president; Judy Wilson, vice president; Betty Inman, secretary; Ann Waters, treasurer; Angie Smith, historian; and Alice Wilson, reporter.

Several events are scheduled for this week. A fashion show of garments made by home economics students was presented to the P.T.A. Tuesday night and in assembly Wednesday morning.

Fifty-five members from the Elba Chapter attended the Southeast District Meeting at Lanier High School in Montgomery last Saturday. Freddie Johnson gave the devotion to more than 1,000 F.H.A. members. Cheryl Clark presented a baton act in the talent show in the afternoon.

The girls were guests of Alabama's First Lady, Mrs. George Wallace, at a tea at 2:00 Saturday.

A neat record breaking crowd was on hand for the closing session of the "Right Kind" Ministers' Circuit Assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses Sunday night, March 24, at the Recreation Center in Enterprise, Alabama.

Among those assembled were delegates from the local congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, James Pryor, presiding minister of the local group said that, "It was a very successful assembly and everyone enjoyed the fine spiritual feast and their upbuilding association with their Christian brothers and sisters."

The three-day convention opened Friday afternoon with the welcoming address of Convention Director, J.A. Hinderer. He encouraged those gathered to pay close attention and benefit from the many Bible lectures and talks that would be given during the assembly.

Sunday, the final day of the convention, was climaxed by the widely anticipated public Bible lecture. During this lecture Mr. Hinderer directed the attention of his audience to Daniel 2:44 and Psalm 2:8-12 and said, "Bible prophecy assures that God's Kingdom will completely resolve this struggle by assuming rulership of the earth. All nations must surrender sovereignty or be crushed by God's Kingdom. Those who wish to survive the struggle must put complete trust in Jehovah, the Almighty God, do as he commands, accept the ransom sacrifice and preach to others the good news of God's Kingdom."

Catherine Speigner discussed some of the ways that Future Homemakers could reach out their hands to the 'Aging' and 'homebound' members of the community.

SUNDAY IS A HOLY DAY

ATTEND THE CHURCH OF YOUR CHOICE THIS SUNDAY

The FIVE DAYS

The Palms and the Cross were but five days apart! On Sunday, down a road strewn with palms, Christ rode triumphantly to Jerusalem . . . and men hailed Him as their King.

On Friday He climbed the rugged slope of Calvary . . . and they nailed Him to a Cross.

How suddenly good turns to evil! How quickly we sometimes lose our vision of God!

The parables of those five days is history's striking lesson in the importance of a constant faith. The faltering, hot and cold sort of religion made possible the Crucifixion!

Palm Sunday you'll be going to Church. In a quiet moment in the sanctuary remember those five days . . . resolve to worship EVERY Sunday, and to live your faith EVERY day.

Linda Roberts
Places In Contest

Linda Dean Roberts, a senior at New Brockton high school, New Brockton, is one of eight girls who have received honorable mention in the competition for 1963 Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow for Alabama.

Miss Roberts is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. and Mrs. Gerald Roberts, R. 1, New Brockton. She ranked in the top ten among 6,871 senior girls in 254 Alabama high schools who competed in the annual homemaking education program.

Lilly Corrine Lamont of T. R. Miller high school, Brewton was named Alabama State Homemaker of Tomorrow, and will receive a $1,500 scholarship. Runner-up and recipient of a $500 educational grant is Karen Kring Hays of Gadsden high school, Gadsden.

First-place winners from 50 states and the District of Columbia, together with their school advisors, will travel to New York City April 20 for an educational tour which will also include Washington, D. C., and Colonial Williamsburg, Va.

The tour will culminate in the 1963 All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow contest, which will be held from among the state winners at an American Table Dinner. Her scholarship will be increased to $2,000, while those of second, third and fourth place winners will be $1,000, $500, and $250, respectively.

Basis for judging in the search for the American Homemaker of Tomorrow is a written examination of homemaking knowledge and attitudes, which was administered last December.

We note with pride and pleasure that Mrs. Wallace Miller, of Enterprise, has been recently elected president of Alabama Veterinarian Association. Mrs. Miller is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Watkins. I recall my association with her in a student-teacher relationship with a great deal of pride. Our congratulations to Eva and her parents.

More than 40,400 senior girls in 12,964 public, private, and parochial schools throughout the country were enrolled. Naming of local state winners was based on scores achieved in this test. Personal observation and interviews will be added factors in national judging.

Each entrant in the Search program, in addition to answering questions of homemaking, also was asked to write a short treatise on the question: "The number of working mothers is increasing steadily. What implications does this fact have for young homemakers, their husbands and their children?"

Linda's answer was as follows: "The steady increase in the number of working mothers indicates that the homemaker of tomorrow is going to have to be a flexible and tremendously adaptable woman. She will have the responsibility of taking care of her family. She must realize that her family can not be neglected for any reason. The young homemaker will have to balance her life so that both phases are in the proper perspective. Her husband and children must be made to realize that her job is a secondary part of her life. Her children will probably be forced to accept more responsibility in the family life at an earlier age. This could be beneficial, but on the other hand the absence of their mother's supervision might be a disastrous side effect. The woman of tomorrow is going to have to be a wizard to make all this 'work.' She must never forget her rightful place in the home; however, she may be forced to stray from it. A woman who can accomplish this truly is an ideal homemaker."

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Brown-and-serve rolls will keep for at least five days if stored at room temperature, and for about three weeks if kept in the refrigerator. They will also last for two months in the freezer if the wrappings are tight.

To cut candied cherries, marshmallows, raisins, dates, or coconut, use a pair of kitchen scissors. When the scissors become sticky, dip them in warm water.

ELIGIBLE SENIORS CAN APPLY FOR "ALABAMA GI BILL"

Thousands of young Alabama high school seniors are now looking forward to graduation in June. A large portion of them have projected their sights beyond high school graduation to college campuses in September. Many of these seniors have already taken steps to insure college enrollment in the fall. And, according to Walter C. Head, Jr., Director of the Alabama Department of Veterans Affairs, some of them will be entitled to college or other training under what is commonly referred to as the "Alabama GI Bill."

Head stated that in the past, several high school graduates had completed full four-year college courses without taking advantage of benefits provided under Alabama law. "Simply because they did not know they were entitled," he added.

He pointed out that under the provisions of the law, the State of Alabama will provide free tuition and instructional fees in any state-supported institution of higher learning or state trade school for children of certain deceased and disabled veterans. "And in some cases these benefits can mean the difference in getting or not getting a higher education," he added.

"Those eligible," he continued, "are high school graduates whose parents died in or as a result of military service in World Wars I or II, or the Korean Conflict. Even children of living veterans are eligible if the veteran parent has a wartime service-connected disability of forty percent or more."

Head warned that young men who graduate from high school and plan to fulfill their military obligations before pursuing a higher education should make an application for benefits under the law prior to entering service. "The reason for this," he said, "is because the law states that training must be initiated within two years after high school graduation. This deadline may be extended for a person who is performing military duty, provided an application is made within the two-year period."

The Act establishing the Alabama GI Bill was authored by Governor George C. Wallace when he was a member of the Legislature a number of years ago. Sole responsibility for administering the provisions of the Act rests with the Department of Veterans Affairs. Officials of the Department call attention to the fact that this Act pertains to the State of Alabama, and should not be confused with the federal law known as the "War Orphans Education Assistance Act."

Persons who have any doubts whatever about their entitlement to benefits under the Act should contact their nearest County Veterans Service Officer. Many youngsters have almost lost their benefits because they were prone to take the information given them by some-tion not well acquainted with the provisions of the law. Interested parents or children may secure detailed information by contacting Maxwell Reeves, Veterans Service Officer for Coffee County, whose office is located at the Courthouse in Elba.

2 Alabama Clergymen To Conduct Tour Of Bible Lands

Dr. C. B. Smith, President Emeritus of the State College at Troy, and the Reverend Claude Whitehead, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Alexander City, will conduct a tour to the Bible Lands in June and July. This proposed journey is attracting the attention of Sunday School teachers, ministers, and church workers in general.

Besides visiting the Vatican City and viewing the many places of historic interest the party will walk on the famous Appian Way, the famous Roman Road on which St. Paul entered the city, and they will inspect the Catacombs along this road. Egypt is included for obvious reasons to Biblical students and persons interested in this cradle of civilization.

Further along the road are five other Near East countries, Lebanon, Syria, Jordan, Israel, and Greece. Among biblical cities viewed will be Tyre and Sidon in Lebanon; Damascus in Syria; Jerusalem in Jordan; Copernum and Caesarea in Israel; Athens and Corinth in Greece. Current on the Dead Sea where the scrolls were found, will be seen. Natural sites of historic interest are Mount Hermon, Mount Carmel, the Sea of Galilee, the Jordan River, the Dead Sea, the Judean Desert, the Plains of Sharon and of Edraelon, Mount Nebo, where Moses viewed the promised land. Whitehead has traveled widely in the Western Hemisphere and the Philippines. Dr. Smith has two trips to Israel previously and has also touched off the Near Eastern countries mentioned.

These men are using their experience to help church workers build up their background through the immense personal enrichment coming from this kind of travel.

Dr. Smith will conduct the tour with the assistance of Whitehead. Both these men hope that members of the party can get together for some preparation for these adventures into the background of our history.
